Screen Time Dilemmas

January 25th, Wednesday

6:00 — 8:00 pm

Limiting children's use of screen time is a key strategy identified to impact child health. The issues and practices around screen time are complicated and effect families, child care settings, and our society. We will explore facts, challenges, best practices, and examine guidelines for your own program, and develop strategies for communicating with parents on this topic.

Instructor: Jean Johnson, BS, Early Learning Trainer

ckc: Families & Community Systems, Set 1

Understanding Behaviors & Making Adaptations for Learning

February 21st, Tuesday

6:00 -- 8:00 pm

Clear expectations and understanding child development are critical for guiding children's behaviors. Children also communicate their individual learning needs through their behaviors. We will practice communicating clear expectations, responding consistently when correcting behavior, and adapting teaching based on children's cues.

Instructor: Jean Johnson, BS, Early Learning Trainer

ckc: Understanding & Guiding Behaviors, Set 1

Movement for Learning

March 19th, Monday

6:00 -- 8:00 pm

Movement activities are critical for health and learning in young children. Skills and control developed through gross motor activities affect the development in other domains as well. Physical activity is a key strategy identified to impact children's health. We will explore a combination of movement curriculum activity ideas from Brain Gym, Bal-A-Vis-X, I Am Moving, I Am Learning.

Instructor: Jean Johnson, BS, Early Learning Trainer

ckc: Learning Environments & Curriculum, Set 1
